4/29/2009	[REDACTED]	19262189	[REDACTED]	Bloomfield, NJ, 07003	My checking was recently charged $11.99 for a membership with Great Fun. I was told by them that by buying my airline ticket through Priceline on February 2, 2009, I signed up for membership. I did no such thing and would like to know from you, what this is all about. Do you just sign people up for membership without their permission? I have requested cancellation and was given a cancellation no. I was further told that I am not entitled to a refund. This is a matter which I will endeavor to report to the Better Business Bureau. Please let me hear from you regarding this matter.	$23.98	5/14/2009	5/18/09	Closed
4/29/2009	[REDACTED]	19264340	[REDACTED]	Portland, ME, 04102	just want to say I am so deeply disappointed with priceline that i will never use your services again and will advise every one I know and do business with to not use your services again...to day i was looking over my bank statement and found a charge on there from great fun places when i called to see what they were they said they were affiliated with priceline. I do remember getting a message for a discount on my next car rental and specifically said NO to the ADDED CRAP YOU TRY TO PUSH ON PEOPLE...WELLO TO BE CHARGED BY YOU AND YOUR AFFILIATES IS FRAUD AND CONTACTED MY BANK AND FILED A DISPUTE AND WILL BE SEEING WHO ELSE SHOULD BE NOTIFIED FOR YOUR SHIFTY SCAMS... how can you do that to good customers who use your services its theft by fraud and deception ...you people need to get your shit together...will be warning every one and will post if on my business sights too	$11.99	5/14/2009	5/18/09	Closed
4/29/2009	[REDACTED]	19268497	[REDACTED]	Littleton, CO, 80127	I'm very disturbed to learn that I was lead to inadvertently sign up for an $11.99/month membership to some rebate-scam company called Great Fun during a Jan 2, 2009 transaction on Priceline.com. Your affiliation with this organization cost me several months membership charges with no benefit what-so-ever. My only contact with that organization was by me when I saw their charges on my credit card bill, no membership package ever arrived as they claim. I previously have used priceline for travel booking but I doubt that I will use your service again and will be warning my friends and associates about this event.	$36.97	5/14/2009	5/18/09	Closed
4/29/2009	[REDACTED]	19278897	[REDACTED]	Seattle, WA 98199	I made a hotel reservation priceline ref [REDACTED] and paid priceline with my credit card. I was then emailed by priceline that I could get a cashback I researched this and was agast to find it was a fraud that priceline had broken my trust and gave their partner site greatfun my card details so I was unknown to me a member of greatfun paying 11.99usd per month I DID NOT give greatfun my card details to join .Priceline did not have my permission to disclose my card details.Iwish to make a formal complaint ,also please furnish me with details of your governing		4/26/2009		Open
4/29/2009	[REDACTED]	19287298	[REDACTED]	Flora, IL 62839	I booked a hotel room with you in March after I booked this room a website for family fun rewards popped up and I took a rebate offer from them. I had no idea that they would charge me every month for this service. I know that you are not responsible for this, but you should not be operating with such a shady company. I was very happy with the service you gave me except for your associate company. If you can help me with this problem I would be very appreciative. Thank you for your time. 5/4/2009	[REDACTED]	19302972	[REDACTED]	Washington, DC, 20017	While purchasing a ticket on your website, I was scammed by the company called Great Fun, who began to charge my credit card for $12 every month until I noticed the charges this morning and canceled my account with them. They said they got my information from you. Apparently a popup from your website registered me in their program, although my intention was just to close the window. This is unethical and possibly illegal and I intend to take every action possible to recover my money. I will never use Priceline again and I demand at least an explanation from you and a name and number who can address this issue	$71.94	5/11/2009	5/11/09	Closed
5/4/2009	[REDACTED]	19306060	[REDACTED]	Bradenton, FL, 34208	I used your site for car rentals when I travel. I discovered this weekend that a company called Great Fun has been charging my credit card monthly since october 2008-the company relates that this membership was somehow attached to my acitivity on this site. The company did nothing for me except bill my credit card. I have reported this to american express and will notify the better business bureau. also. I will no longer use your site due to compromise of my credit card information and violation of my privacy.	$47.96	5/11/2009	5/11/09	Closed

5/4/2009	[REDACTED]	11469576261	[REDACTED]	[REDACTED] Somero, FL 32716	When I was making reservation a GreatFun screen came up with offer for 15% back. I filled out and submitted but never gave them my card#. If I knew there would be any kind of charge to me I would never have filled out registration. This program is very deceplive!! You gave them my card number because there was no card number request on there form. That is the only reason I filled out the fom. I have disputed the Charge from GreatFun with my credit card company, and will call Great Fun Monday when there office is open to cancel the "program" I was scamed into. I thought Priceline was a service that I could trust. I'm having second thoughts. I would like the GreatFun charge credited.	$11.99	5/4/2009	5/11/09	Closed
5/4/2009	[REDACTED]	19307072	[REDACTED]	Pittsburgh, PA, 15237	I purchased an airline ticket through your website on May 4, 2009 New Haven, CT for a business trip. I have used your service previously without a problem. This time around, however, both on the confirmation page and in the confirmation e-mail I received from your company there was a misleading advertisement that said I could claim 10% cash back on my purchase from one of your marketing partners-I still retain proof of this in my e-mail inbox. Unfortunately, I clicked on the link to check it out and was redirected to the greatfunsite.com where I was asked to sign up for a membership with them. Upon seeing this, I immediately left the website without entering in any information. I had since forgotten about it until recently when I received, via mail, a Great Fun membership card. I promptly shredded it without using it. I had a nagging suspicion they had gotten my information from your website but I once again put it into the back of my mind. Today I checked my bank account and I found an unauthorized credit card charge from their company in the amount of $11.99. Upon further research, I discovered that they had also obtained information to be sent to third party members without the user's consent and turn a blind eye to them being scammed, I am never going to purchase a plane ticket	$23.98	5/11/2009	5/11/09	Closed

I had a lot of confidence in the service provided by this website and I have had very good experiences in the past with your service. I just learned today that I have been charged from the above scam company for over 10 months and that the "membership" was initiated when I bought a hotel from Priceline. I understand that this type of "service" is intended for stupid people like me that do not check their monthly statements. I don't usually check it because I only use reliable sources to make my purchases. Can you please explain to me how this happened?	$263.78	5/11/2009	5/11/09	Closed
5/6/2009	[REDACTED]	53687987112	[REDACTED]	Corpus Christi, TX, US, 78414	Somehow; during my last visit to priceline.com I was surrepiously enrolled in a program called Great Fun.com. I never authorized any withdrawal from my bank account and I can only assume that information was given to them as a partner when I charged my airline tickets on your website. I recently noticed for the last several months my bank account has been charged a monthly fee that I never authorized. I suggest you re-look your relationship with this shady operation. You can rest assured that neither I nor any of my friends and family will ever do business with your company again. Thank you	$131.89	5/6/2009	5/21/09	Closed

5/6/2009	[REDACTED]	54154782101	[REDACTED]	Colorado Springs, CO, US, 80920	I noticed Great Fun charges on my credit card account but do not remember authorizing this charges. I also noticed that my credit card information was stored in my profile information which I just deleted yesterday which I don't recall saving either. I do not remember signing up for Great Fun information and I am requesting a refund back to my credit card starting January 09-Apr 09 with a total amount of approximately $47.96. 5/15/2009	[REDACTED]	58676143188	[REDACTED]	Cranberry Twp, PA 16065	A few months ago, I purchased tickets through priceline. 5/15/2009	[REDACTED]	59543517101	[REDACTED]	Fox Lake, IL 60020 United States	My credit (debit) card was charged $11.99 by TLG Great Fun without any authorization. I called the number and they informed me that priceline provided them with card number. Since this is a debit card the money was taken right out of my checking, and cannot be refunded for 7 days. This is very inconvenient considering I only have a $100.00 to survive on for two weeks and cannot afford to have money taken out of my account without my knowledge. I will never do business with priceline again. Tricking people with hidden fees, giving out debit card numbers to other companies...poor business and very shady.	$11.99	5/12/2009	5/21/09	Closed

5/15/2009	[REDACTED]	60648217112	[REDACTED]	[REDACTED] TX 76248 United States	Please let me express my great dissatisfaction with Priceline recently. My husband and I use Priceline ALL the time to book travel, as you can see from my profile history. Recently, I noticed a deduction from my checking account/debit card in the amount of $11.99. I called to see what it was and the place, "Shoppers Advantage" indicated I had "clicked" on something on Priceline and thus "agreed to" a membership with them. I was livid as I did not do this - I never click on anything like this. Fortunately, I was able to get the $11.99 credited to my account. However, today I discovered yet another outfit - "Great Fun" had deducted the same amount - $11.99! I called and AGAIN they claim I "clicked and agreed" to something on Priceline. I am very disappointed because I would like to continue to use Priceline but refuse to do so if you are hooked up with scams such as these. I find it absolutely maddening that I have to spend time on the phone with my bank and with these "fake" memberships to even get my money back. And - I don't know how long this will continue! This is 3 calls in less than a week to straighten out 2 bogus transactions. What can you tell me about these schemes? Please advise ASAP. Thank you. I am a loyal customer and would appreciate an explanation. I don't want any further unauthorized	$11.99	5/13/2009	5/21/09	Closed
5/15/2009	[REDACTED]	57235140101	[REDACTED]	Annapolis, MD, US, 21401	Recently while reviewing my online bank statement, I found charges from "TLG GREATFN" dating back to last summer. Apparently, ever since a priceline transaction from July of last year they have been billing me. 5/15/2009	[REDACTED]	59081632101	[REDACTED]	Zanesville, OH, US, 43701	I said you were rotten and disreputable. You charged my checking account for 11.99 for something I clearly did not order and you have probably scamed 100's of people with this same scam. I will never order another airline flight from you and I have already contacted AirTran. You are liars and have proven that you cannot be trusted. Any company that needs money that badly and charges customers that have trusted them to book a flight are the lowest of lifefoms. You can take your offers and shove them because you don't even know that you order them and get charged for them. Your e-mails were intrusive when I got them after I booked the flight but I did not know they would also be scams. You can't trust priceline ever and I have told everyone I know. It is not the $2.00 but it is your dishonesty. I know I will get a dozen e-mails from your junk company and you will probably send my address to every other disreputable company that you are friends with but go ahead...I will just report you as phishing scams. This seems to be a common occurrence with your company. There are several complaints online, but no one seems to do anything about it. Your company abused my trust and I will never purchase tickets from Priceline again. Below you'll find links explaining the scam. 5/22/2009	[REDACTED]	12559384260	[REDACTED]	Washington, DC 20016 United States	Hi, I just noticed a recurring monthly charge of $11.99 on my VISA bill for "TLG GREATFN" May. I called the 800 number referenced and cancelled (code R0409). I have no idea how this charge got on my VISA or what it is for. I certainly didn't get anything from it. They said it was through something I did on Priceline. Are you guys in on this? Is this part of a scam? Is Priceline an accessory to this fraud? I feel like I've been tricked and robbed. Thank you. 5/22/2009	[REDACTED]	68584166102	[REDACTED]	Las Vegas, NV, US, 89121	I am soo disgusted on how this scam work!! We as your customers trust in this site, in this company, and you scam us!!! TLG Great Fun blames you, I just got off the phone with them, I NEVER provided them with my credit card information, and you did, so that they can charge whatever they want on my account for the past 3 months. If this is ridiculous!!! then I go to yahoo to check out the company, to find millions of reviews of other people who have been scamed, and have no idea why? this is so unfair, and unprofessional for priceline as a company. This is asking for a lawsuit. I need some answers! and this is bad for priceline, I would suggest you departing from TLG Great Fun because it is ruining your reputation!!!!	35.97	6/1/2009	6/5/2009	Closed

I booked one hotel through you guys, and have been paying for it for months. You guys gave my information to TLG Great Fun and they have been stealing money from my account since then. I have been overdrawn so many times because of this. How do I know it was you who gave my information? Simple... it has been the only thing I have bought online plus they told me. Because of all this I will never use your site again. I will tell all my friends and family what I have had to go through so they don't use your site. So please contact me asap before I contact the state attorney general office on this matter. thank you	131.89	6/12/2009	6/12/2009	Closed
6/17/2009	[REDACTED]	11195590360	[REDACTED]	Spanish Fork, UT 84660	I purchased a Hotel room through priceline last July and at the end of my purchase I was linked to a "Great Fun" website where they had a promotion that promised great incentives. I went through it not knowing there was a monthly fee attached. By January I noticed the charge was on all my bank statements. I'm sure it was all explained in the fine print, but I feel deceived because the credit card information that I put into priceline was used to charge that fee. If you choose to have me back as a customer then I would like a pay back of $78. If that is too much to pay to keep me as a customer then please remove my e-mail from your list and I will let everyone know about the way priceline handed my credit card information to another company that failed to explain what was happening. Thank you				Open
6/17/2009	[REDACTED]	61379926168	[REDACTED]	NA	How do I send a message to you regarding your product of Great Fun. This company has billed me for over a year without my consent or knowledge. Priceline should be more responsible than to subject their customers to this sort of unsuspected, unwanted solicitation! I have written the company, my credit card company & the office of Consumer Protection for Connecticut.				Open
6/17/2009	[REDACTED]	70484340102	[REDACTED]	Fort Wayne, IN, US, 46818	Apparently after purchasing tickets on priceline.com my credit card # was given to and charged by a company called TLG Great Fun. I am very upset by this and contacting the Better Business Bureau with this information. I will no longer be using priceline.com to purchase airplane tickets again because my credit card is not safe. This is very disappointing as I have used priceline.com in the past for all my previous flights. I called TLG Great Fun and they said you gave them my credit card information along with my address. I never checked anything or told anyone that it was okay to give my information to a third party. The better business bureau will be contacting you with this.				Open

6/17/2009	[REDACTED]	69089009102	[REDACTED]	[REDACTED] WI, US, 53119	This is a formal request to have my services discontinue with this company. Through I ticket purchase, I was misled to signing up for a recurring bill of $11.99 from a company called TLG Great Fun. I want my account purged and further e-mailings to cease.					Open
6/17/2009	[REDACTED]	58783891101	[REDACTED]	Pleasant Prairie, WI, US, 53158	Just to let you know you guys are crushing your business by being connected to The TLG Great Fun. You have scammed so many people. I will no longer use your services, neither will anyone I know. In addition, there are many sites attributed to the complaints of this service and it is being linked to your priceline. I don't know how you guys gave them my info by one click of the mouse, but it's incredibly wrong and cruel. Just Google tlG Great fun, see what pops up. You will see your name connected to this scam. I hope you get lots of money from that scam because you will be losing more in sales now. You guys are sad. I fly at least 2-3 times a year and so does my significant other, being that we are separated for long periods of the time in the year. Now we will not even consider your services.					Open
6/17/2009	[REDACTED]	12723918357	[REDACTED]	Framingham, MA 01701	I booked a rental car reservation through Priceline and was misled by your affiliate GreatFun.com. Priceline provided my credit card number to Greatfun.com and I've been billed $11.99 per month for three months. You must warn your customers that you are providing their sensitive credit card information without authorization to your affiliate; GreatFun.com. This is misleading and underhanded.					Open
