Oh, no - removing "add/remove function" is not necessary! Don't do it, please!

I was simply asking for that uninstaller, if they can send it to us so that we could automate the process for users who upgraded.

Sincerely,
Alex

Hi Mia,

Just wanted to let you know that when I install your adware on one of our PCs and tried http://www.mypctuneup.com, this site reported that it could not find it! (even thought your program was listed in the "Add/Remove Program" list).

I then removed the program using "Add/Remove Program" in the Control Panel. Since you program appears there, it seems that it has an unistaller. Can you IT guys sent it to us so that we would not have to do the task they have already done.

Sincerely,
Alex

Hi Alex.
The user will go to http://www.mypctuneup.com and enter e-mail address and name. The person will then receive a unique link in their e-mail mailbox. When they click on the link, we will unsubscribe the software!

Thanks,
M.

Mia,

6/13/05 2:24 PM

It will not require changes on your end — I hope to accomplish all that on our end.

Just let us know what shall be done on user's PC to turn your adware off — so that we would not have to figure it out on our own.

Sincerely,
Alex

Well, not sure how that would work, but we may have something like that in place.
However, to change anything on our end - would require at least 20,000 us installs daily. Would that be reachable?

Thanks,
Mia

Hi Mia,

I think we can make the necessary modifications to our promotional freeware even without having your source code. In fact, the only think need to modify is to make sure that when the user upgrades to ad-free version, your adware is disabled and the user is deducted from the number of billable installations.

Any recommendations on the best way to turn off the adware on the upgrade?

Sincerely,
Alex

Hi Alex,
I am sorry but I cannot send you the source. We are working on getting the installer through without being detected by Norton, however, that may take a little while.
If it is not possible for you to send us the installs, please just refund the outstanding test amount.

Thank you in advance,
Mia

Hi Mia,

During the initial testing the encountered the problems best described in one of the user's letters — see below.

1.       The adware is reported as virus  - and it closes most of our distribution venues;
2.       It discourages the users from upgrading to full version of our software.

Can you send us the source for your installer so that we could see how can we accomplish what you need to have done while avoiding these problems?

For instance, we need to be able to tell the users that if they upgrade to ad-free version of EliminateSpam!, they won't be subjected to these pop-ups. (obviously, we will adjust our billing accordingly).

Sincerely,
Alex

Subject: pop-up ad abuse

Dear Mr. Konanykhin:

Like many Internet users, I get an enormous amount of spam email each day. I asked my ISP (Comcast) what to do about it, and they directed me to a website that contained your software "Eleminate Spam Deluxe 2.01".
I downloaded and installed this software, and almost immediately, my resident virus-checking program (NOD32) detected a virus (Trojan) I promptly removed the virus, and uninstalled your program.

Comcast checked your download file and found no virus.

Before I downloaded your program, I never got pop-up ads. Now, I get pop-up ads repeatedly, even though I uninstalled your program. I also get repeated copies of the Trojan virus, which NOD32 promptly detects and removes. I know your program changed my system to let in pop-up ads, which has been an enormous annoyance, especially when I am trading stocks and options online. I also suspect that your program changed my system in such a way as to let the virus into my PC.

As I'm sure you can appreciate, this has been an exasperating experience. Please tell me how to remove the effects of your program and restore pop-up blocking to my system.

I look forward to your reply. Thank you,

Steve Wineberg
